Hello,

I have a couple of questions about the ChangeMyReputation.com service:

1) What sites can you remove content from?

2) How can you guarantee that you can remove content from any of those sites? Do you have an agreement with any of those sites? If so, what kind of agreement?

Regards,

Adam Steinbaugh

Send us the links to the content you'd like removed and we'll let you know if it's possible to remove them. We have special ways of removing content that we do not disclose to our customers. If we cannot remove the content (which has never happened) we will issue a full refund.

If you send the links to the post on yougotposted I can have it removed before you pay. But if you dont pay within 10 minutes it will not stay removed. Let me know when you want to pay. Once you pay the post wont ever appear again on the site as the name will be banned from being posted again.

I just heard back from the website.

Are you independent of YouGotPosted.com?

Okay. So your only real connection is that you have ads on the site? I just want to make sure money isn't being sent to the same people who run the site.

Do you have any payment methods besides Paypal?

Thank you!

So, if you're independent -- two separate companies, two separate owners -- why are you hosted on the same server? Why are emails from your separate companies/people coming from the same residential IP address?

I think you're running a deceptive operation and I intend to write about it. Two independent companies with independent owners sharing the same 'customer service' representative doesn't sound very independent to me.

If you have any evidence that the companies are truly independent, I'd be happy to consider it. I'd be skeptical of anything less than an identification of the owners of the companies. If you prefer, you can share that information off-the-record if it's legitimate and not misleading.

Thanks,

ABS

I don't backlink. I use PDFs.

Please forward this correspondence to Mr. Chanson so that he may have an opportunity to respond. Assuming this isn't him, anyway.

Hello,

I just wanted to confirm that you can vouch for the legitimacy of ChangeMyReputation.com and its content removal service -- $200 is quite a bit of money to send over the internet. Please let me know if you have experience with them

thank you
